

Prior to joining NTU in September 2010, Professor Liu taught at the Department of Chinese Studies of the National University of Singapore from 1995 to 2006, and was awarded tenure in August 2000 and subsequently promoted to associate professor. He served as Assistant Dean (Research and Graduate Studies) of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences at NUS between 2002 and 2005. From July 2006 to September 2010, Professor Liu was the Inaugural Director of the Centre for Chinese Studies and Chair Professor of East Asian Studies at the University of Manchester, where he was also Head of the Department of East Asian Studies, Founding Director of Confucius Institute, and Academic Director of the UK Study China Programme, which was funded by the British government with £2.2 million. He is presently Tan Kah Kee Endowed Professor of Asian Studies at the School of Social Sciences' Public Policy and Global Affairs Programme.

Professor Liu has served, since July 2011, as Chair of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS), which has expanded rapidly over the last six years in terms of programme offerings, number of faculty and students, and research grant success record. He spearheaded the establishment of the History Programme and the National Arts Council-NTU Chinese Writers-in-Residency Programme in 2012, the Public Policy and Global Affairs Programme in 2013, the Philosophy Programme in 2014, and the MA in Translation and Interpretation in 2016.

Professor Liu's research areas include Asian governance, Sino-Southeast Asian relations, international migration, global flows of talents, and public diplomacy. He has authored/edited 15 books and about 100 academic articles, including in leading international journals such as World Politics, Journal of Asian Studies, Critical Asian Studies, Journal of Southeast Asian Studies, The China Quarterly, Journal of Contemporary China, Nature and Culture, Current History: A Journal of Contemporary World Affairs, International Journal of Comparative Sociology, and Ethnic and Racial Studies. His publications also appear in the French, Dutch, Japanese, Chinese, Indonesian and Korean languages.